Internet and Electronic Resources Policy

The Cooper-Siegel Community Library provides access to electronic resources, including the Internet. The library promotes and enforces responsible use of electronic resources for research and educational use. Electronic resources in the library are intended to provide patrons with convenient access to informational resources consistent with the mission and values of the public library. Patrons are asked to adhere to their legal and ethical responsibilities in the appropriate use of the Internet.